Club of the week

Invitation to Prism club

Doubling as a safe space, the Prism Club, a student-led club, is where ANYONE and EVERYONE, straight or queer, can come together to learn more about the LGBTQ+ Community and help us spread awareness on the topic. The club was created to combat the harmful stereotypes and misconceptions that exist within our day-to-day lives.

As you can see in the pictures, we have had our first field trip to the Pride Walk event that happened recently. We are currently working on a website where we will post our articles and posters for people to check out. We will also work to have posters and flags around the school to promote inclusivity, and we are looking to create TAS's FIRST EVER PRIDE WEEK!

Check out what our amazing alumni are doing while working with Wild Rhino Vietnam, as they attempt to save our planet's most critically endangered animals.

Hello everyone!! I'm Phoenix. I'm in eighth grade now and I'm gonna be in high school next year.

My interests have never remained fixed for a long time because I am a person who easily changes her mind (I am a person who gets bored very easily). But there are three things that I never get bored of: designing, singing, and listening to ghost stories. They have a lot of appeal to me (fun fact: I listen to ghost stories while fashion designing, and I draw in math class Ahihi!!)

I still don't have goals for myself in the distant future, but for now, I want to improve my math score. Since there will be a lot of exams and presentations in the near future, I am sure that I will be very busy. I look forward to getting a good score. This is the goal I set for myself by the end of the year. Hopefully everyone will get their desired score.

I want to be able to freely do what I want without being stopped by anyone in any place or time. That would be a great thing for me . I love to draw and sing, and inspiration is a necessity. But inspiration always pops up late at night or when I'm out. At that time, I always want to get to work right away, to avoid it slipping away. That's why I love being at home or in familiar, comfortable places on my days off.

I have many, many great memories of designing and singing. You know that I love to draw wherever I go, so I always carry my sketchbook, pencil and eraser. One time, I was on a plane from Hue to Ho Chi Minh City. The flight attendants kept going back and forth, but they kept looking at me. Then a flight attendant named Ngan came back and complimented the outfit I was drawing. I was very happy (OMG!!!) because before that only my friends and parents had complimented me. That was very encouraging to me.

I hope that my instructors, friends, and seniors will help me in the future. Please excuse any grammar errors; I'm only in eighth grade and my English is really bad. Sincere thanks!
